NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTION CEREMONY

One of the most memorable and impressive events of the school year is the National Honor Society Induction Ceremony. To be eligible for membership, students must have an average of B or better. The faculty then rates these students on the basis of character, leadership, and service. The members of National Honor Society are denoted not only by their NHS emblems, but even more by their continual demonstration of the qualities for which they were selected.

"It is better to light just one little candle. . ."

Mr. Homer Oliver, Executive Head.

Education is a companion which no misfortune can decrease, no crime destroy, no enemy alienate, no despotism enslave; at home a friend, abroad an introduction; in solitude a solace; in society an ornament. It chastens vice, guides virtue, and gives grace and government to genius. Education may cost financial sacrifice and mental pain, but in both money and life values it will repay every cost one hundred-fold.

These ideas expressed years ago by an unknown author are more apparent today than anytime in the past. Millions of people have talents they never develop and abilities that are never put to use. The aim of the Little Miami High School is to challenge students to get out of the mass of "just average", into the area of "excellence".

...you wanted to know what man is for...

Mr. Fernando Cress, Principal.

Mrs. Marlene DeBoard, secretary to Mr. Oliver.

Vice-President Lawrence G. Poe, Robert Weller, Myron C. Baker, H. Ivan Muchmore, President Arch F. Hildebrant, Clerk Clarence Holt, and Executive Head Mr. Homer Oliver.

ADMINISTRATION and LITTLE MIAMI BOARD OF EDUCATION

Spirit is a green Senior sweatshirt

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the graduating seniors of 1968. This is the end of twelve years of hard work for many in this class. For many of you, graduation is only the beginning, while others will stop at this point and be satisfied that they are ready for society and the changing world. Those who stop at this point will get by, but not as much success will come to them, as the ones who feel they need to continue their studies, whether it is college or a technical school. I am certain that this diploma means different things for different students. Many have worked very hard during these twelve years, while others have loafed and coasted through doing just enough to get by. For these students, there may be a problem adjusting to the competitive world of work or society. Success comes to those who work and work hard. If you are not willing to do this, you will have very little happiness and success. I would like to ask that each graduating senior remember the high ideals and goals your school has tried to instill in you during this period. You are our ambassadors of good will, so remember, you have a responsibility to uphold these ideals throughout your adult life. It has been a real pleasure being your principal during the past three years of high school. Good luck in all you attempt to do in the future.

That true friends are very few,
The kind that's pure as the morning dew,
With sunshine beaming from their face,
And there's no one to take their place.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The 1967-68 school year was an active, fruitful year for the Student Council. Acting upon the students' suggestions from the suggestion box, the Student Council secured the installation of a pay phone in the hall and clocks in several classrooms, organized and posted the Honor Roll, set up a new system of electing officers, conducted a fund raising drive for WING'S Runyan Family Cancer Fund, posted a bulletin board supporting our men in Vietnam, and sponsored a fun-filled Football Homecoming Dance with the theme "Autumn Leaves and Candlelight." During March the Council became a part of the Peace Corps School Partnership Program and devoted the remainder of the year to the huge task of raising $1000 to build a school in a foreign, underprivileged country. The project began with a kick-off assembly featuring Peace Corps volunteer, Jeannette Reeser, as guest speaker. This was followed by the sale of construction paper bricks to "build" the school and a hilarious rendition of "The Dating Game" featuring LM'S own cast of students and teachers.
